

* Sergio Fazio ask as to inform the Society that a new medical journal for the art is now available.

He is the first editor-in-chief of the Am J Prev Card, and Elsevier, open access, peer reviewed journal, official organ of the American Society for Preventive Cardiology. They accept original articles of pragmatic nature as well as informative reviews and opinion papers on the art of preventive cardiology. Sergio sad that One of the sections he want to create is entitled The Status of Preventive Cardiology in....[country]. He would love to see a paper describing the current landscape of offerings in Israel for the patient who is curious to know her risk of a heart attack, and whether there is a homogeneous approach to risk assessment and management. Information about training and teaching would be valuable as well.
